In the meadow, in a bee hive you are a little bee in your little bee bed. A paper flows in and lands on your face, waking you up.

You read: "POLLEN COMPETITION TODAY! Bring the most pollen to the hive and win!"

A big bee walks in and laughs. "you’re too small!" he says.
Determined to do your best, you head out to look for pollen. Pretty soon your little bee pockets are full.

Do you:

- Sit down to take a break  (page #4)
- Go back to the hive to drop off your pollen  (Page #3)
You take the pollen right back to the hive. After you drop it off, you go back out for more.

All the bees have been busy and the flowers are empty.

You sit down on a flower and are very sad.

A worm sees you and asks “why are you so sad little bee?”

“I can’t find any more pollen.” You say. The worm says, “I know some good places, with lots of flowers.”

Should you:

- Go to the forest (page 5)

OR

- Go to the park (page 6)
It feels good to rest your little bee wings as you eat your lunch.
When you’re not looking, big bee snitches your pollen.

• Go to page 2
There are lots of trees and flowers!

You hear the faint sound of meowing. Curiously, you fly toward the sound and you see a big crate. The meowing seems to be coming from the crate.

Do you:

- Keep looking for pollen
  OR
- Try to unlock the crate

(page 6) (page 8)
The park is full of flowers. You fill your pockets and soon you are ready to go back to the hive.

You see the big bee! He's almost to the hive! You also see an orange-haired girl, she's walking towards the hive, it looks like she's going to walk right into it!

Do you:

- race back to the hive and beat the big bee  (page 7)

OR

- forget the competition and stop the girl (page 9)
You fly as fast as you, can beating the big bee back! His mouth is open wide; amazed at you!

Suddenly the hive starts shaking and everyone swarms out in a panic! You see the orange-haired girl, she had ran into the hive. You sting her and die.

THE WORST END EVER
You fly inside the lock and wiggle your little bee body. It unlocks!

A cat jumps out!

“Thank you! Thank you!” says the cat. “How can I repay you?”

You say, “You don’t have to, but it would be nice if you could help me collect pollen.”

The cat says, “I could roll in it and a lot would stick to my fur!”

You go together and get a ton of pollen. The two of you go back to the hive and win the competition!

“Thank you cat friend!”

THE VERY GOOD END.
You buzz around the girl’s face and she ducks away from you and away from the hive.

She runs away, through the forest where she saves a cat that was trapped in a box.

You lose the competition, but save the hive! Everyone ignores the big bee and cheers for you!

THE VERY BEST END!
