

Death Poem

By Aviva Kaminsky

Death is like the crying of friends and family
It is the blank and lifeless stare in someone's eyes
It is the fragrance of flowers given to you to place on a grave
Death is the satisfaction of eating after fasting for a loved one Death is the coldness of Thinking
That you and I would die one day