

The Vast Unknown

My family and I inside our home,

Along with a balcony that stays as still as stone.

My mother, my sister and I am the brother,

Since we are family, we stay together.

When I speak of dreams and adventure,

To the end with a long worded lecture.

They all started to shudder, bumping and huddling up each other.

Since I grow through what I am shown

I'll never know about the unknown.
